under bench storage to match the overheads as well, you will be hard pressed to find this space anywhere else.

But best of all, for peace of mind, the whole living room looks out over the crystal blue waters of the below-ground saltwater pool, great for those with children, but so easy on the eyes as well. In fact, the elevation of the block and clever design of the home offer a view of not just your own property but the whole area, an absolute treat for those late afternoon sunsets!

And of course, the stunning outdoor living area offers the view, where many an afternoon/evening will be spent with family and friends, sitting around the fire pit while you search for the fossils hidden in the amazing Fremantle stone laid to finish the perfect picture.

Of course, the must-have powered workshop, every man's dream, resting to the side of the yard, still giving so much room for the back yard cricket, or for the fur babies to be in heaven in this big, secure yard.
